

NONPARTISANS WIN VICTORY.

State Machine Group in the Senate Shelves Bill.

Vant No Return to Party Responsibility in State.

Governor's Reorganization Bill Reported.

BY ELLIS D. PALMER.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

SACRAMENTO, April 13.—The nonpartisan, personal-government, state machine group in the Senate today won at least a temporary victory when the Senate Elections Committee disapproved a two-thirds majority of the Assembly, tabled by unanimous vote, the party responsibility bill introduced by Assemblyman White, Smith and Lee, which passed the lower house by a vote of 51 to 25.

The bill was shelved under the watchful eye of Lieut.-Gov. Young by these Senators: W. J. Carr, of Pasadena, Slater, Johnson, Jones, Crowley and Flaherty. Senators Rominger and Young were absent and Rominger today prepared to call the bill on the floor of the Senate by resolution.

If this move proves futile it is the plan of these favoring abolition of the present political situation in the State to write in the White-Smith bill as an amendment to a bill by Senator Carr which has passed the Senate and now awaits action in the Assembly.

FOR EXPLOITATION.

Senator Rominger, asserting that the present nonpartisan law "is merely a vehicle for exploitation by the Governor and the Lieutenant-Governor, who are hard at work building up and maintaining a personal political machine," said further:

"This bill by White, Smith and Lee, proposes the greatest and most needed political reform in the State and we propose to do all in our power to force it out."

"The bill seeks to amend the primary law to require all candidates to seek State and national offices, only with the party with which the candidate was affiliated thirty-five days prior to a primary election."

"It is directed against possible minority rule and at paternalism and personal machines in political affairs."

Assemblyman Smith, who brought the Senate Elections Committee to pass the bill out with or without recommendation, told the committee members that passage of such a measure would "prevent the next Legislature from degenerating into a situation, as this Legislature has done, of legislative barter and exchange."

Smith predicted that the people themselves would vote the change if the Legislature failed to act.

HAND OF ADMINISTRATION.

The hand of the administration was plainly apparent in the arbitrary action of the Senate committee, for Lieut.-Gov. Young, one of the originators of the primary law, and other administration members, were openly opposed to passage of the measure.

The Governor's reorganization bill, which was reported by the Senate committee, was also shelved.

Appealing to Faith

Many earnest proponents of advertising ask people to have "faith in advertising."

These same advocates would not think of urging "faith" in letter writing—"faith" in telephoning—"faith" in any other method of thought transference.

Advertising is one means of conveying messages.

The message itself may be what you will; it may inspire to heroism or lull to sleep, and—advertising, like the telephone, will carry either.

Any magazine or newspaper carries advertising which results show to be "good advertising," and the same identical issue of the same publication will also carry "poor advertising."

The publication is identical, the reader is the same, the difference, therefore, must lie in the message and its presentation.

When you have a message to convey by advertising, employ an advertising agency, with ability and experience to prepare that message.

Put your "faith" in the message.

FIFTY years ago, when THE FARMERS AND MERCHANTS BANK was organized, it was the custom to keep a book containing the signatures of all the depositors.

An inspection of that book today reveals a complete roster of all the prominent business men of that time, names that are vitally associated with the tremendous growth of the great Southwest.

And there are many persons still doing business with this bank who opened accounts with it on the day of its incorporation.

This is the reward of banking fidelity.

PLAN TO STOP BUILDING-GRAFT

Proposed Laws Suggested to Investigators.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

CHICAGO, April 13.—Two remedies for conditions which the Federal and State probes have shown to exist in Chicago building circles have been submitted to the Legislative Committee. It was learned today. Both are designed to remove the cause for those conditions, rather than to facilitate criminal prosecution of persons responsible.

The first is the passage of a law which will grant to the Attorney-General and State's attorney a power which is already exercised by the Department of Justice in regulating interstate trade.

That power is the right to start a civil suit for the dissolution of any corporation, association or combination which operates in restraint of interstate trade.

Much of the evidence which has come before the investigating bodies has revealed an apparent combination in restraint of the use of materials, or the pricing of materials, in which members of a contractor's organization and union business agents are members.

The famous Article 8 of the joint agreement between the Carpenter Contractors' Association and the Carpenter's Executive Council is perhaps the best-known example of this.

This article stated that "there shall be no restriction against the use of any manufactured material except nonunion and prison-made" and was the basis for most of the Federal building trades indictments returned early this year.

"Under the present State laws," said a prominent attorney today, "the only recourse left is to start a criminal suit against the offenders. At the best this only removes the head of an organized system, and another man takes his place."

"If the power to start a civil suit for dissolution of the organization is granted to the prosecuting power of the State, all this will be changed. An organization can be forced to obey the law or forbidden to do business in the State."

The other remedy is the creation of a State trade commission, which would govern interstate matters along the lines of the present Federal Trade Commission.

With such a commission in operation, each association, corporation or trade union which operated in Illinois would be licensed to do business.

Every agreement made between such organizations would be submitted to the State commission for approval.

Where evidence of illegal practices or price-fixing could be proved, the commission would be empowered to give the commission a club which would "make 'em be good," whether the building trades operators wanted to or not.

WOULD TAKE WAGE CUT.

A break in the ranks of building labor was seen when it was learned that officials in the common labor unions have been making overtures to the contractors for a conference on reduced wages. With only seventeen men in the ranks, the common labor union is in a weak position.

Indications of the truth of this view were seen this morning when work on an apartment building in Rogers Park was started. A group of 100 laborers stood about watching their more fortunate brethren work. Several approached the building foreman and offered to work for 50 cents an hour, half of the present wage scale.

"Have you a union card?" asked the foreman. The applicant produced his card, but was told that so long as the agreement existed with the union the card would be of no use.

Morschel, according to Henry J. Cohlman, secretary of the Associated Builders, admitted to several members of the association that a wage cut would be acceptable to the members of his union.

If a cut in wages comes to 51 an hour for skilled workmen and 70 cents an hour for unskilled labor, one of the projects which will be started without further delay is the construction of the new Union Station and a new postoffice. But no work will be started unless the cut is accepted, according to J. D'Esposito, chief engineer of the projects.

GETS LIFE SENTENCE.

SAN ANDREAS, April 13.—Harvey Fisher, self-confessed murderer of Arab Hovv, whose body was found outside of his cabin at Angel Camp recently with his head crushed in with an axe, withdrew his plea of not guilty yesterday afternoon at a late hour and entered a plea of guilty. He was immediately sentenced to life imprisonment.

ITALIAN PLANS GIANT DIRIGIBLE

Designer of Roma to Aid in Work Here.

Loaned to United States by His Government.

American Airships Will be of Smaller Type.

(A. F. MORT WIRE.)

ROME, March 23.—The United States has asked the Italian government to lend to America the services of an engineer skilled in the construction of semirigid dirigible airships and several other men to aid in the building in the United States of craft like the Roma, the largest dirigible purchased from Italy.

The Italian government has granted the request and the Italian engineer, Celestino Usselli, designer of the Roma, will supply plans and instructions for the proposed American craft.

SHORTER THAN ROMA.

It is understood that the American navy program on board the dirigible is to be shorter than the Roma, which is 210 meters in length.

Signor Usselli is planning larger dirigibles for Italy. "I intend to start immediately the construction of a dirigible measuring 240 meters in length, the largest that can enter the present Italian hangars," he said.

"This new ship will replace the Roma, but will be able to fly without alighting almost twice as long."

"My next great construction will be a super-giant, semirigid dirigible, for the construction of which I must wait the arrival from Germany of three colossal hangars assigned to Italy. I shall then build an airship 250 meters in length, 40 meters in width and 120,000 cubic meters in volume. It will be equipped with two engines of 150 horsepower each, and each of which only one-third will be in use at a time. The other two-thirds will be kept in reserve as that each motor will work only six or seven hours, and will have from 10 to 15 hours for rest and cleaning."

"This dirigible will be able to fly for ten days consecutively and will be able to fly in any weather and world alighting only once. It will carry 100 passengers, besides a crew of twenty-five and ten servants and will cost 10,000,000 lire."

"My chief desire is," said Engineer Usselli, "to demonstrate that a dirigible can fly in any weather and stand any storm, alighting without need of a hangar."

"It also will demonstrate that a dirigible can fly in a good business proposition."

COLOMBIAN TREATY OF VICTORY

Disposition on the Part of Leaders to Bury All Past Disputes.

BY ROBERT D. ALEXANDER.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The Colombian treaty has been signed on April 20 it will have more effect than any treaty in the past. In spite of the opposition to it, there is a disposition on the part of the leaders to bury all past disputes in its present form in an administrative program.

TO PREVENT FRICTION.

Many of the Senate leaders privately predict that if the administration ratifies the treaty, it will have small chance of success. In the desire of all of the Senate leaders to get the treaty out of the way, there is a disposition to prevent friction between the Senate and the administration and the administration and the administration.

JOHNSTON NOT GUILTY OF THEFT

Clerk Acquitted of Charge He Robbed Safe in Police Judge Chesebro's Court.

The jury of seven women and men trying Clyde Johnston, clerk of Police Judge Chesebro's court, the embezzlement of $30,000 from the courtroom safe, last night after eleven hours of deliberation returned a verdict of not guilty on all six counts of the indictment.

The jury retired at 11 a. m. and deliberated until 5:45 p. m., when Judge Houser called it in. The foreman reported the jury had agreed. It stood seven to five almost from the first. The disagreement hinged on count five, representing the specific charge of embezzling $30,000. On the other counts of general embezzlement, the jury had come to an agreement. Count five referred to the night of the purported theft, August 17, last.

Mr. Johnston set up an alibi at the trial, which started March 25. He said he was at home on the night of the theft. The money taken represented cash ball put up by defendant in the Police Court.

The prosecution relied generally on conviction from the asserted fact that Mr. Johnston dealt in stock market, and lost money, and also that he had hypothecated Liberty Bonds put up by a Police Court defendant, using the bonds as security for a loan. He denied these charges. He was represented by Schenck and Kittrell, Dep. Dist. Atty. Clark conducted the prosecution.

After the verdict was returned, Mr. Johnston gave out a statement of thanks to friends who had aided him in combating the charges.

Denton Estate Final Account Made to Court

The final account in the estate of the late Jacob C. Denton was approved by Judge Rives yesterday. The report was made by the special administrator, Judge Avery. The estate had cash on hand totaling $12,719.75. The account showed there had been paid out $11,961.30, leaving a balance of $1858.45. In addition to this balance, there is real estate worth more than $50,000.

Mr. Denton's dead body was found in the cellar of his home. Mrs. Lora Peete was arrested and convicted of his murder. She appealed from this verdict.

HE KID AS SLAYER

Antonie Guida was held to answer yesterday by Justice Follett on a charge of manslaughter, after a hearing regarding the death of San Fernando of Salvatore Ciacchi. Ball was fixed at $5000. It develops during testimony adduced by Dep. Dist. Atty. Hill that the defendant interfered in a sudden quarrel between two other men.

EAGLE TOURISTS TO VISIT HERE.

Eastern Visitors Will Help
Dedicate Hawaiian Park.

Zion and Salt Lake Reserves
Also on Itinerary.

Excursion to West Secured by Senator Fall.

One hundred and twenty-five easterners on another Brooklyn Daily Eagle National Park tour, will arrive about June 16 in Los Angeles, and visit points of interest in this vicinity. The tour this year is to the Hawaiian National Park, which will be dedicated with the cooperation of the New York City tourists.

The tourists will sail for Honolulu on June 1, from Baltimore, via Havana, the Panama Canal, Los Angeles and San Francisco. The Matson Navigation Company has offered the entire first-class cabin on the 11,157-ton ship Buckeye State, which will carry the party to Honolulu, from there to Hilo and return, and back to San Francisco.

SPECIAL TRIP.
There will be a one-week special trip from Los Angeles to Zion National Park, Utah, and Salt Lake City, and also to San Francisco by way of Reno, Carson City and Lake Tahoe.

The tour is being organized by the old Brooklyn newspaper at the suggestion of Secretary of the Interior Fall, who, as a New Mexican, takes a personal pride in the scenic attractions of the West. By act of Congress the areas covered by the great Hawaiian craters have been taken over by the Territorial government, and will be opened to the American public at dedicatory exercises.

FALL'S TELEGRAM.
Secretary Fall, in his telegram to the Eagle, said:

"The two National Park tours conducted by the Brooklyn Daily Eagle—the 1919 tour opening a new Interpark Highway and last year's tour resulting in the dedicatory ceremonies of the Grand Canyon National Park in Arizona—have played an important part in making known to our eastern citizens the great scenic reservations of the West, our national parks. These tours have resulted in a keener understanding and a finer friendship between the East and the West.

"We are now planning to dedicate the Hawaiian National Park, Territory of Hawaii. If the Brooklyn Eagle could arrange to conduct a party of travelers to the islands in June to assist in the dedicatory exercises, they would have an exceptional opportunity to view the wonders of our farthest western national park, including Kilauea's lake of everlasting fire, and to extend that spirit of friendship and understanding so notable in other Eagle tours to our island brothers. I would appreciate a prompt response."

APPRECIATE AMERICA.
In reply, the Eagle said: "The tour we shall now organize will embody even larger opportunities for beneficial contact between widely scattered parts of our population.

NEWS FEATURES
IN ROTOGRAVURE

Eight Striking Pages Deal
With Number of Events
Local and Foreign.

Next Sunday's eight-page Rotogravure section of The Times will graphically depict a number of local and foreign events that are at present being dealt with extensively in the news columns. One of the most striking features will be a page of portraits of charming Washington matrons. There also will appear the last photograph taken of Lieut. W. D. Coney, the daring young aviator who lost his life as the result of an accident while making his return transcontinental flight.

The series of little journeys through filmland will be continued, showing the intricate and fascinating process by which motion pictures are made.

Don't miss this graphic section in which the interesting persons, places and events of the present time are pictorially presented.

We shall take this opportunity to visit Zion National Park, Utah, and Crater Lake National Park, Oregon, and to enjoy again the unmatched beauties of Mt. Rainier and Glacier National parks. Thanks to the untiring efforts of the National Park Service of your department, with which it has been our privilege to co-operate, Americans are at last beginning to appreciate that their own country is the world's greatest wonderland.

The homeward journey will be made by the northern route in a special train, arriving in New York about June 23.

Hotel Men from East at Tijuana
Races and Feast.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

SAN DIEGO, April 13. — A party of thirty-three prominent hotel men from cities of the East here on a "coast-to-coast and Colorado" tour visited Tijuana today to attend the races and afterwards have dinner at the Sunset Inn at Tijuana as the guests of Baron Long. Two of the races on the card today are named in honor of the visitors, the Charles Gehring handicap and the New York Hotel Review purse. This evening the visitors are guests at a Tijuana dinner and tomorrow will see San Diego and vicinity by auto.

Thomas D. Green, president of the City Hotel Association of New York City, and Elmore C. Green, president of the New York State Hotel Association, are directing the tour, which is personally conducted by President J. P. McCann of McCann's tours.

Last evening the party were the guests of W. A. Turquist at the Hotel del Coronado at a banquet. Tomorrow night the hotel men will return to Los Angeles.

"COUNT" IS CONVICTED OF LARCENY.

Self-Styled Nobleman is Loser in Second Freedom Fight in Southland Courts.

Albert Bichofsky, who says he is a Polish "count," but admitted on the stand that he began a gambling career at Monte Carlo, and afterwards visited many other places where lady chance was wooed, yesterday in Judge Reeve's court lost his second fight for liberty. A jury, after four hours of deliberation, found him guilty of grand larceny on two counts, in taking $7500 from Dr. S. Levin and Dr. O. M. Justice in a supposed deal relating to the purchase of oil land at Huntington Beach.

The self-styled "count" had previously been convicted in the federal court at San Diego of violating the passport regulations. He put up a strenuous fight to avoid the second conviction, even claiming that he won the money from the physicians in a game of craps. Dep. Dist. Atty. Van Cott recalled the physicians to the stand and they detailed casting the dice for money. Bichofsky will be arraigned on Friday for sentence. Whatever his sentence may be, he will have to serve three years at McNeil's Island before beginning a term in San Quentin.

Conference Called by Gov.
Ybarra Will Take Up Plan
for Lower California.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

MEXICALI, April 13.—Bankers, irrigation district officials and others closely connected with the water question in Imperial Valley have been invited by Gov. Ybarra to attend a conference in his office tomorrow afternoon when the water situation in Lower California probably will be the principal subject for discussion.

It is intimated by those who have been invited to attend the conference that extension of credit to farmers in their water purchases, as proposed by Director Brockman of the irrigation district, will be brought up. It is said that this proposal has met with the approval of many of those who are interested financially in the agricultural situation in Lower California, and that they will endeavor to formulate a working plan by which this method of financing water purchases can be worked out.

Mr. Brockman's plan is to allow the farmers to use the water which is now running through the canals and into the waste ways of New River, and to give them until the end of the crop season to pay for it.

How THIS LABEL

"Stuffing" onliver, "Underwriters' Label" on Safe.

Your only reason for buying a safe is to protect yourself against the loss of valuables, whether currency, jewels, business records or documents. Yet a superficial examination of any safe does not tell you how it would stand up in a sweltering fire, nor what would happen if it were caught under the crashing walls of a burning building.

It is this assurance that you get when you see the Underwriters' Label on an Art Metal Light Weight Safe. It is the guarantee of structural strength and performance awarded by the Underwriters' Laboratory—an impartial body of engineers supported by the insurance companies.

In awarding the Art Metal Light Weight Safe this guarantee label, the board of engineers subjected it to a more grilling test than would prevail in one out of a thousand fires. They put the safe in a furnace heat of 1700 degrees and kept it there for an hour. Then, red hot, it was dropped 30 feet onto a concrete sidewalk. After going through this test the safe was hardly scratched—and the contents, consisting of loose papers and books, were found in absolutely perfect condition.

"Such a safe," said they, "is worthy of the Underwriters' Label."

In almost every business there are documents of such value and character that no insurance could compensate for their loss. Perhaps there are some papers of such extreme importance being held in your office tonight. Is it good business to compromise your firm on this sort of risk?

Ask the H. S. Crocker Company representative—phone or personal call—how the Underwriters' Label on an Art Metal Light Weight Safe will protect your business.

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for news gathering of all material furnished to it by this paper and also the local news published herein.

NEED THE DOUGH.
With the price of flour well down toward the before-the-war basis and water to be had for the mere asking, it would seem that it took something more than calm courage to charge a quarter for a pound of crackers.

HAD A CHILL.
Jack Frost has made his annual levy upon the fruit crops of Michigan, Missouri and the Middle West. The berries are blighted, the peaches are frozen to the hilt, the cherries are chilled to the bone and the plums are congealed. About all that was saved from the wreck was the prospect of a thimbleful of grape juice late in the fall. So the frosty season. Yet when the ripening season comes the market will be fairly stocked, as usual—even if they have to draw on California.

ROADS AND POLITION.
Looks as if there might be some political graft in the Illinois road-building program. The State voted bonds for highway construction to the extent of $40,000,000 two years ago; but the bids for the work following the war were so high that not much was undertaken. Now the administration is having the roads put in under the cost-plus plan, by which contractors are allowed 10 per cent on the final cost of $10,000 a mile. If this doesn't build a political machine as fast as it does a road it will be funny. The government had a lot of scandal on its cost-plus contracts during the war and they may not make a better showing in days of peace.

MME. OULJA SLANDERS.
It turns out that a ouija board may be akin to a deadly weapon in certain hands. An Illinois woman was robbed of a lot of sugar and raisins that she had in her house for some purpose. She grieved over the loss and finally went to her ouija board to try and find out who had been the thief. Mme. Oulja spelled out the name of a neighbor and the victim of the robbery therefore went forth and charged that neighbor with the crime. Now a jury has held that the woman is guilty of slander and that a ouija board has no standing in court. Its testimony isn't worth anything unless corroborated. The Illinois woman not only lost the material for her home brew, but she is facing a judgment of $10,000 for slander. Too much confidence should not be placed in the statements of Mme. Oulja. She is as dangerous as an unloaded gun.

A RUSSIAN PERIL.
Russians who are out of employment at Akron, O., are going to start a Russian village near that city. They are buying several hundred acres of land which is to be cut up in small tracts for individual farms. There will also be a large farm to be operated on a co-operative basis. Only married men are to be admitted to the community and each must put in at least $1500 toward the land and buildings. The colony will be a Little Russia. Yet this is the very thing that Americans cannot approve. We want no national groups, however small, in which the language, customs, life and literature of the old country are given right of way to the exclusion of American usages and ideals. In some of the big cities there are racial groupings running into the hundreds of thousands and here the profile of the American government and American institutions are thickest. We want Americans for Americans and not for Little Russians.

KEEPERS OF THE LAW.
Considerable complaint has been heard of late from visiting motorists—and many of the home-brewed ones as well—about the rough and unpolished manners of some of the guardians of our traffic. When they pluck a fellow they don't remove their bonnets and say "please." They haven't the amiable and balmy voice of a Curcio, but a snarl and forbidding note that sounds like the bark of a bloodhound. One stranger who stopped to ask a policeman a question at once found himself under arrest and doesn't yet know what it is all about. He was fined $10, but isn't sure whether it was for obstructing an airship or wearing a mustache like Charlie Chaplin. Another stranger who stopped his car to alight at the Alexandria said that he had a narrow escape from being ordered shot at sunrise. Much grievance also came up from those who find their cars tagged by the police during their absence. A ticket tells that they are charged with violating a paragraph of ordinance No. 2178 and when they report in court they find it absolutely impossible to discover the character and extent of their crime. The judge is too busy to give any information as to the nature of the ordinance which has been offended and the officer who made the pluck may be absent, his deposition the criminal pays a fine of $20 and goes forth leaving maledictions on a community that changes its traffic regulations every day and yet provides no one to tell wherein the stranger has offended. Ignorance of the law is declared to be no defense, but when the law changes as rapidly as the community's traffic regulations do it ought to be. Certainly a man has a right to be specifically informed of the nature of his offense without any making-up legal verbiage.

WHAT IS AN "ASSOCIATION OF NATIONS?"

President Harding has definitely and explicitly declined to accept the covenant of the League of Nations as the basis of negotiating treaties of peace with the Central Powers. He will not approve of any treaty form that accepts and recognizes the superpowers of a world League. He aims at "the realization of our aspirations for nations associated for world helpfulness without world government."

The President still clings to a league idea; but he holds that the covenant of the present League does not give expression to the aspirations for world peace which the free peoples fought. In his message to Congress he carefully distinguishes between the League idea and the covenant of the League. "In rejecting the LEAGUE COVENANT and uttering that rejection to the world," he said, "we make no surrender of our hope and aim for an association to promote peace in which we would most heartily join."

Bitter-enders are asserting that in rejecting the covenant the President has "scrapped the League." The Times does not attribute to his utterances that meaning. He reiterates his desire for an association to promote peace. Both in legal and common acceptance the words "league" and "association" are interchangeable. Ardent peace advocates will not cavil about terms. They are content with the geometrical formula that things equal to the same thing are equal to each other.

But neither the President nor the Republican party can afford to trifle with the aspirations of the American people for an association of nations and an international code founded on justice rather than on military force. Our people will not consent to go back to the old conditions of secret treaties, balances of power and regions of influence that existed before the war. They will not consent that the sacrifice of so many heroic souls shall have been made to no purpose. To go back to the old policy of isolation and great armaments would be to break faith with those who died.

While Mr. Harding was a member of the Senate he voted for ratification of the League covenant with certain express reservations. With those reservations the great majority of the American people were in accord. One reservation for the disastrous defeat of the Democratic party at the polls was the embittered opposition of the Democratic minority that defeated ratification in the Senate.

President Harding said in his message that "in the national referendum to which I have reverted we pledged our efforts towards such association and the pledge will be faithfully kept." The association referred to in the Republican platform and in Mr. Harding's speech of acceptance was one founded on the principle of the covenant with the Republican reservations. That was supported by all the recognized Republican leaders in the Senate. Only the "bitter-enders" opposed it. England, France and Italy have expressed through their governments, a willingness to so modify the League covenant as to include those reservations or to form a new association based on those principles. The people of the United States have a right to expect that the President will, to use his own words, "proceed forthwith to organize a conference for the purpose of establishing such an association."

Mr. Taft and other prominent peace advocates have held that it would be better to modify the covenant of the present League to make it acceptable to the American government, to cut out the superpower features and delete Article X than to scrap the League and proceed to the organization of a new "association." But they are agreed that it would be better to abandon the old League and form a new one than to have no League at all.

President Harding's present views seem to incline to an association in the form of an amplified Hague Tribunal, one that will depend largely upon moral influence to enforce its decrees. He commended the international tribunal which Mr. Root helped constitute and has said that he would like to see the United States one of its members; but the President has not yet firmly against any covenant that binds this country to future military actions, under any contingency. His idea seems to be that we should help form an international court which will pass upon the justice or injustice of the complaints made by one people against another; a tribunal that would deprecate an act of aggression by any nation. But he would reserve for the government in power at the time such a contingency arises the decision of whether this country should use its army and navy to enforce the decrees of the international court.

The Times believes that the association of nations should be backed by physical as well as moral force; but we recognize that the association such as the President has indicated would be a long stride in advance of pre-war conditions. We admit people to us as like a railway line in addition to the two banks of a river but without any structure to span the waterway. Building the railroad is as necessary to transportation as constructing the bridge; but neither is of great value without the other. During the late war the American people supported right with force, "force without stint or limit," and the war was brought to an end in an incredibly short time. We had hoped for a League of Nations that would function with equal efficiency; but we appreciate that an association with only moral obligations is to be preferred to no League at all.

GAMBLING IN GRAIN.

Senator Capper of Kansas says that the Chicago Board of Trade has Monte Carlo skinned as a gambling resort. He said that the grain bought and sold under futures on the Chicago board was fifty-one times as much as the entire wheat crop of the country last year. The actual grain available for the Chicago market was less than one-quarter of 1 per cent of the quantity actually sold on the Board of Trade there. The Kansas Senator is pushing his bill, which would forbid all sales on boards of trade except those calling for the actual delivery of the grain and would put a 20 per cent tax on all dealing in futures. If the Senator has his way the man who sells a bushel of wheat on the Board of Trade will have to bring the grain on the floor in a wheelbarrow.

MOVING BACKWARD.

After three years of Hearst and Hylandian New York City, the great American metropolis, the wealthiest and probably the most populous municipality in the world, is faced by the contention of Gov. Miller and the State Legislature that "it is unfit for self-government."

Such an arraignment of the first city of the United States can well cause the residents of other American cities to stop, look and listen. The New York World admits most of the allegations concerning municipal misrule, but insists that the electors were hoodwinked in the last city election, that they are credulous—but not imprudent and desperately wicked. It says editorially that:

The municipal government is not only physically but morally disintegrating. The fences are down and hogs are rooting over the front yard. The city has become a political slum, with all that a slum implies in the way of menace to the political health of the community. The place is overrun with vermin. The atmosphere is fetid.

New York City, after three years of Hyland, needs more than a change of administration. It needs fumigating. It needs disinfecting. It needs delousing. Police records show that crimes of violence have increased enormously in New York during the last three years; and the police under Hearst and Hyland are accused of minimizing the number of crimes in their official reports. A member of the soviet bureau has reported that more jewels have been stolen in New York than were expropriated in Petrograd. There were more murders, hold-ups and cases of house-breaking in New York City last year than in the whole of England.

There was a bitter protest in official circles in New York last month when the State Legislature declined to grant to the municipality the measure of home rule that it had formerly enjoyed. The State exercised the rights given to it under the constitution in dealing with municipal transportation by undertaking to solve the traction tangle. The majority of the population of the city resented this act as an unwarranted intrusion, and the State administration pointed to the record of the last three years in support of a contention that too much self-government was not good for the municipality.

Municipal government in New York has had a checkered career ever since the days of Boss Tweed; and the black squares seem to have predominated. If we are to believe the New York papers themselves, the present administration has been the worst of all.

While our most striking example of misgovernment, New York is not the only city that has suffered from maladministration during the last ten years. Chicago has run it a close second and San Francisco has received unenviable mention. The administrations of our own municipality have not all been shining lights in the way of good government. There have been too many innovations, touted as reforms, that have facilitated waste, increased expense and served to discourage men best fitted for running for office. Notwithstanding our civic leagues, municipal leagues, good-government leagues and leagues of women voters, municipal government in the United States distinctly retrograded during the last decade. Pretended reforms have made things over without making them better.

Every well-written editorial, Horace Greeley used to say, should end like a fable with a moral. And the moral to draw from the experience of New York and other American cities with administrations tainted with chicanery and radicalism is that the electors of Los Angeles should study carefully their ballot in the coming municipal election, make some personal inquiries concerning the candidates and the interests and influences that are backing them. Hyland was Hearst's hand-picked Mayor for New York. It might be worth while to find out whether he has a hand-picked slate for Mayor and Council here.

BRIAND AND JOHN LAW.

Premier Briand's proposal for practically issuing money up to the total wealth of France is almost identical with the plan by which John Law, more than 200 years ago, tried to extricate the nation from an impossible financial situation.

Briand suggests that France should not only refuse to accept commodities in lieu of cash from Germany and also decline to countenance the application of barter to international transactions as a way out of the present difficulty, but even advises the issuance of 10,000,000,000 to 15,000,000,000 francs annually in promises to pay. Since France is already running behind on her operating expenses and is not meeting her interest charges, these obligations would pile up so rapidly that France would soon be on the basis which Law advocated and tried out—namely, a franc in negotiable paper or in the form of a loan for every franc's worth of value in the land.

In arriving at the nation's wealth Law not only included all physical assets, land, improvements, personal property, etc., but added to that total 50 per cent for the additional value in the people utilizing those things. It was precisely as if a farmer issued promises to pay up to 100 per cent of a maximum valuation of all that he possessed and increased his promises by 50 per cent on the security of the human beings who worked the land. Law had arrived at Utopia. It was possible to eat one's cake and have it, too!

Naturally, the paper issued by the French government fell to almost nothing, just as would the paper of an individual whose securities were overpledged, and virtual repudiation resulted.

John Law regarded money not as the measure but as the cause of wealth and from that fallacy proceeded to the conclusion that a government was doing most for its people when it issued the most money.

In spite of this colossal blunder, he was a shrewd financier and one of the dominating personalities of his century. He deflected radicalism and had no confidence in legislative fiat save when it was but the shadow of an intelligent and aggressive absolutism. Thus he stands in sharp contrast to the present ruler of France, who is closely modeling after the blunder of two centuries ago.

Briand is a semi-repentant anarchist and a Socialist of the compromising type. For instance, he framed and directed the application of the law separating church and state, and bitterly showed his hatred of the Vatican. Nevertheless, he is today responsible for the negotiations looking toward a Franco-Papal alliance stronger than any since the Middle Ages. Above all, he worships the power of legislation. The world can be made rich, he thinks, if governments will only be generous in pledging credit. All men can be legislated into happiness and equality, too, provided the legislation is drastic enough.

A diluted anarchist about to duplicate the financial program of that naughty anarchist, John Law! Another attempt at a new heaven and a new earth by legislation! Utopia became the majority acclaim that it is time for it!

PAY AND WORK.

More than $100,000,000 worth of building improvements have been hung up in Chicago awaiting wage adjustments. Construction costs have been so high as to retard any general building program. Many of the contractors say that they can no longer pay the $1.25 an hour that most of the painters, carpenters, plumbers, plasterers and other workers have been getting. They are offering $1 an hour, but the unions are not disposed to accept. But there are over 100,000 idle men in Chicago. Many of them must have work to keep themselves and their families from want and these are disposed to break away from union domination and consider their own interests first. A job at $1 an hour is better than fighting for one at $1.25. And the pity of it is that in most cases the man is not competent enough as a producer to be worth either sum. There are plenty of $10-a-day jobs for $10 men, but any employer objects to paying $10 for a $4 man.

CENSORS OF OLD.

BY EUGENE BROWN.

Several of our pulsant purveyors of polished phrase have lately taken to hurling brickbats at the sarcophagus in which slumbers Marcus P. Cato.

"Tis well that Marcus sleeps soundly. Were he alive today most of his critics would be hunting for holes in which to hide. This Cato person was an unpleasant party at a bonapick. When he had a feud he didn't stipulate for an eight-hour day. He kept it working all the time."

He was a plain, blunt man who was determined that his fellow-citizens should follow in the narrow path beaten out by his own well-caulioned feet. That was why they made him a censor. He was the most unpopular man in Rome for the job, but he wanted it and therefore he finally got it.

Nowadays when people take to knocking the idea of censorship everybody thinks of Marcus P. Cato, who made Rome howl with dismay. All the literary lights from H. G. Wells down to Bull Montana who have carpentered into the passage of a bill requiring that all men work eighteen hours a day under penalty of losing their sleep.

He was going to make the people virtuous, thrifty and orderly if he had to stay by them at all hours. There could be no holding of hands in the South Side Park, nor could there be any unseemly display of hose at the Brown's hall. Husbands were required to turn the pay envelope into the family exchequer, and a man who coughed up three dollars for a home-brew outfit would have his vote taken away from him. Girls who sought to lure by wearing gaudy plumage or decorating their faces were given the brand of infamy. Old Man Cato was determined to make Rome safe even for the Venetians.

He never would allow a movie in the place. The only pictures in the town were a couple of chromos brought in from Athens—studies of Niobe praying for rain. If there had been movies Marcus would have insisted on writing the scenarios himself and, in order to assure their untarnished purity, he would have lived in seclusion in his own home. The worthy Romans would have a couple of reels showing Marcus P. Cato engaged in meditation and not much else.

If a man slept in the temple, supported the prohibition ticket and shut his eyes when women were climbing on the street cars old Marcus P. Cato would extend the right hand of fellowship, but if he reconstrued the Shriner's picnic or fox-trotted with Marie it was all off.

That is why, when modern reformers talk of censorship, the wild blades see a projection of Marcus P. Cato and murderous thoughts arise. Marcus was a very respectable old gentleman, but he was about as pleasant as the crystalline path he journeyed for sixty-two years, shedding about as much sunshine as a lump of coal.

And then something happened. At any rate, he began to fall for the skits.

He moved the pick of his lady slaves into his parlor and began to feed her biccorns and choicest delicacies. He hung a string of beads around her neck and kissed her until her lips were chapped. He dug up a dancing girl from Little Egypt and after taking off seven of her veils, had her sit on his lap while she braided his whiskers. At the age of 18 or thereabouts he married his stenographer. She was a skinny brunette with the temper of a coyote, but she hung the Indian sign on Marcus P. Cato and had him in front of a justice of the peace before he could sing bass. But they do say that she had the time of her life shoeing the rest of the lady vampires off of the Cato trail.

All of which goes to show that some censors are not as white as they are painted.

X-Rays and Experts.

Edward W. Redfield, the painter of snow scenes, said the other day at the Philadelphia Art Club: "I see that in Paris the experts are proving the authenticity of the famous old masters by means of the X-ray. This is a good idea. It will do away with a lot of hoaxing."

"I heard the other day of a dealer who tried to hoax a profiteer. The dealer offered a Raphael for sale, pointing to the signature triumphantly, but after examining the signature the profiteer said: 'The name doesn't look like Raphael. Looks more like Rachel to me.'"

"The dealer examined the signature himself. 'Yes, it is Rachel,' he said. 'I'll tell you the history of that. When Raphael painted that picture he was in hard luck, understand, so he put it in the wife's name.'—(Washington Star.)

RIPPLING RHYMES.

PRESENTIMENTS.

At times I've had forebodings dire, which made me sad and blue; disaster, like a house afire, would climb my frame, I knew, and I would drop my trusty lyre and sound the loud boo-hoo. "I know that evil's in the way, I feel it in my bones," at times like these I used to say, in melancholy tones, "and hence my pals, alackaday, my moist and mournful moans."

And since I thus expected ill, the ill would sometimes come, and hand me a bitter pill that made my innards rumble; my cheer-up song I'd cease to trill, my well-known harp was dumb. But years have passed as they go; they left bluish with me, and now I do not look so blue, but hark on coming glee; there's happiness in store I know, and blessings good to see. At times the dire forebodings strive to get me in their grip, my spirit thrills and I am glad to see, and scourge as with a whip, but where they're dared they cannot thrive—I bid the blasted things skip. Presentiments are silly things for some to entertain, yet full many a spirit breaks beneath their deadly strain before that weary spirit wakes to know that they are vain.

WALT MASON.

TWO MINUTES OF OPTIMISM.

BY HERMAN J. STICH.

Resumé!

It is a fact that some years ago, in a prosperous Ohio agricultural section, the two bright sons of a bright farmer made from $250 to $500 each morning, simply by swapping jackets. Unfortunately they extended the jacket-swapping period to cover the entire day. The fields were not plowed. There were no crops. The mortgage was foreclosed. Nobody showed up to take the last jacket at any price, and finally the farmer and his wife went to the poorhouse and his two bright sons to the bughouse.

During the last few years there was a revival of the jacket-swapping process by many people in almost every section of the United States. Fortunately, the thing was stopped before the country got too far in the hole. Passing over things which we possess—either commodities or labor—to some other person for what we know to be double or triple the real value and replacing them with something which somebody sold to us on the same basis in the end would do good to anybody; indeed, it made a vicious circle which injured everybody.

But it is all over. The waters were troubled while it lasted, and they may be rough for yet a little time, but the worst in passing of the country has settled down to sense. Business men are realizing, have realized rather forcefully, that business exists for the community, not community for business, and that capital and labor are alive to the fact that the way to create wealth is by worth rather than words, by building rather than booming, by founding upon a solid basis rather than upon loud talk, coercion and expediency.

In his inaugural address on March 4 President Harding said: "Our task is in the respect of our country's normal way. Reconstruction, readjustment, restoration—all these must follow." In other words—RE-SUME! That is to be the slogan of the United States for the years to come, a slogan which should be taken to heart by every worker—employee or employer—in America.

Resumé! If you are an employee and you have a job, work at it! Do your day's work and do it honestly. Give it all you have. Treat it as you would your best friend. That is what it really is. If you haven't got a job, get one—any one. You can get a job, and a promising one, and will take any honest work, and you'll over. Don't be too particular about the pay envelope. You may have to keep the list in dead storage for a considerable time to come, but you can earn enough to feed the kids and pay the rent. And if you can't convince the boss in six months or a year that you're worth a lot more, you've got a lot to learn about the way to get along.

Resumé! If you're an employer and you can possibly keep your plant running, run it! If you make money, spit some of it with the "help." You can't fare far unless you share fair. Every employee is part of the business; his work counts for the total and it should count for the individual. Growth and profits should be mutual. That is good business. That is the way to secure allegiance and loyalty. That is the way to get a man's heart and head, his ideas, his thoughts and his efforts. Men won't work for a man who "works" them. Selfishness only intensifies a reciprocal feeling "after his own kind." It is never to an employer's advantage to take advantage of his employees—such tactics invariably encourage them to capitalize their experience at his expense. Men submit to exploitation only as long as circumstances compel, and when circumstances permit, they either obstruct or compete.

Resumé! Go on! Get on your job and get it your stride! Do something. Nothing can happen to you, an individual or a corporation that keeps busy. Quit worrying. Give hot air a holiday. Don't weep if things don't pan out so quickly as they ought or you expect. The years to come will be as prosperous as any we ever had. New leaders and fortunes are in the making every day, but by workers and believers, not by shirkers or calamity howlers.

The news of English, we tell the latest. Write in perfectly style and most earliest. Do a murder get committed we hear and tell of it. Do a mighty chief die, we publish it. In borders of somber. ## PROTHY DIX TALKS

WHAT WOMEN LIKE.

BY DOROTHY DIX.

A man wants to know what quality women ad most in men.

Strength of mind. Strength of body. Strength of will.

There isn't a woman living who doesn't fall for the caveman stuff and whose secret ideal isn't a husband who would beat her when he got angry if he didn't love her so overwhelmingly.

If every woman could have her heart's desire she would be wooed with a club by a determined gentleman who would drag her by the hair of her head to his bungalow and stop her shrieks for the police with kisses.

That is why the bold love always wins out, while the humble worshiper gets left. There is just something in the sight of a man alighting at her feet that fills a woman with an irresistible desire to kick him.

Of course, now and then, the meek and lowly suitor, who begs a woman on bended knees to take him, instead of having the nerve to grab her, does get her, but it is only after she has despaired of the love pirate coming along.

Practically any man can get any woman he wants if he has the strength to do it and goes after her with a determination to make her love him whether she wants to or not.

If he has strength, he has the glamorous quality for her that overshadows all of the virtues and most of the social ten commandments.

It is true that many women marry weaklings. Witness the number of misguided females who have married men to reform them and who remain faithful to poor, flabby creatures who haven't an ounce of force in them, physically or mentally.

This has made many men think that the way to appeal to a woman is to arouse her pity and throw themselves upon her charity. They tell a woman that she alone can save them; that they cannot stand alone and need her for a brace; that she must stand between them and temptation, and that they can never achieve anything in the world without her aid.

Little do these men know that the feeling that they arouse in a woman's breast is merely maternal love. It is not the love of a woman for her mate, but the love of a mother for a poor, weak, wobbly child that hangs on to her skirts, and that she has to hold by the hand to steady.

No woman ever really loves a man she can henpeck, because there can be no love without respect, and she doesn't respect the spineless creature who lets her dominate him. You will never find a happy home in which the hen rules the roost. It is only those wives who begin every sentence with "John says," who are really satisfied with their life partners, and with whom marriage is a success.

Women like men who have strength of will, and who cannot only control themselves, but dominate them. That is why a man makes the mistake of his life when he gives in to the whims and exactions of a woman. He thinks that he makes her love him by humoring her. Instead, he kills her love, because she despises him for being too weak and cowardly to fight her to a standstill and force her to behave herself.

All of us know splendid men who have worked themselves to death to gratify the senseless extravagance of a wasteful woman. We have known men whose lives have been passed in terror of the temper of the viragoes they married. We have known men who slipped around their own houses like a deprecating shadow, to keep from precipitating hysterical scenes in which their wives indulged whenever they were thwarted. We have known men who have been belittled and rebuffed by their wives' refusal to go where fortune beckoned.

Did you ever see one of these men who had a wife that really loved him, or appreciated him, or thanked him for the sacrifice he made for her? Never. And why should they? What is there in a slave to fire a woman's fancy?

Women admire strength in a man, and they admire it most when it is allied with tenderness. Then it is irresistible.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

Guess He's Right.

LOS ANGELES, April 11.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Your recent editorial concerning ancient prophecies was very interesting. As further proof that old-time prophecies knew what they were talking about, may I call your attention to following:

Isaiah, 24-31: There is a crying for wine in the streets; all joy is darkened, the mirth of the land is gone.

Incidental comment: Should this prophet reappear, get a job working on a modern newspaper, and the editor asked him to prepare an editorial or a comprehensive summary of the local situation with interesting comparisons between the times of B. P. and A. P., what would happen to him if he were to turn in the above twenty-word editorial covering the local situation? As a reward for his effort in saying in twenty words what a modern scribe would write in twenty something like 2000 words, would he be given a prominent seat with the mighty, or would he be assigned to the department of vital statistics?

While considering the brevity of the olden days, particularly the Psalms, Proverbs, Job, the Lord's Prayer and the Ten Commandments, and noting the abundance of words in these days, it must be admitted that it was fortunate for the human race that the books of the Bible were written at a time when brevity of statement was considered in good form, else the Bible would have been so voluminous that no man would live long enough to read more than two or three chapters. All the more fortunate is it when you observe the terrific demands made upon large-sized type these days in recording such essentials as the Hamlet episode (in contradistinction to an ancient named Haman), to say absolutely and positively nothing of the magnificent blarney of ink that is poured out in what all things are, one can imagine in what a world of words a modern writer would revel when writing the first chapter of Genesis. Looking over some of the glorious accounts of press agents who divulge inner secrets in contradiction of the latest motion-picture triangle, a matter presented as of much greater importance, if you please, than creation itself, we quite naturally come to think that engraving the Lord's Prayer on the head of a pin is a much greater accomplishment than that of writing the prayer. Without being in the least sacrilegious, can you draw a mental picture of the writer who reported the story of the Creation and something of the conditions under which he worked in comparison with modern reporting?

It is fully many a league from Moses with his chisel to Hoe with his lightning press, but how much farther in the line of truth is the present than the distant past? ARTHUR COLLINS.

How He Did It.

GARDENA, April 10.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I should like to express my views of work and how to feel content. Every day I hear from my fellow men, cringing and bitter denunciation of their employers. There is no need for this, as I stand ready to prove that before the end of four weeks after I started I had a raise in my pay. "How's that?" they say. "You must be a favorite." Such foolishness and ignorance, I will tell you how I got it. I did more than earn my day's pay. You know, I purchased a car. I never was absent a day, never late in two years, and if every man would earn his pay check, his employers would appreciate that, but few earn their salt, and loafing does not pay, boys. It breeds discontent and ruins you in the end. Be honest with your employers and they will be with you. GEORGE SIMPSON.

Sounds All Right.

LOS ANGELES, April 10.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Several days ago The Times gave an account of a proposition to move and enlarge the present Junior State University. Why not while we are about it take steps to make this a first-class university? Right now nearly 1,000,000 people are living within easy commuting distance, so students might live at home and attend the State university at very slight cost. This would enable people of moderate means to give their children a first-class education. It seems to me that this presents to the Chamber of Commerce an opportunity to render the people of our metropolitan area a signal service by getting behind the project and pushing it to a successful consummation.

Q: What is the reason for not using the letter "J" when naming Army units? H. E. W.

A: Old Point Comfort, Va., is situated on a small peninsula where Hampton Roads and Chesapeake Bay join the Atlantic Ocean.

Q: Why is ten usually the basis for a system of counting? S. E.

Q: When was Brooklyn Bridge built and how much did it cost? A. M. W.

HEAVY, PURE LINEN

On That Living Room Floor of Yours

Its richness of texture, its super-quality, its beauty and exclusiveness, its wealth of sentiment, its enduring charm and—all at a price lower than the "ordinary" rug.

It seems too good to be true when you consider the price of linen in any other form.

KLEARFLAX, the only linen rugs in the world, are really truly linen, with all of linen's natural virtues—thick-woven into a firm, heavy, flat-lying floor covering and with two wearing surfaces to double its life.

And such colorings too—delightful, solid tones that blend so harmoniously with any decorative plan. Ideal backgrounds they are that fairly breathe a spirit of restfulness to the entire room.

And the most unlooked-for feature is their paradoxical price—a 9x12—(nearly 50 pounds of genuine linen) that sells for only $54.50. Klearflax actually improve with wear—they grow softer and more silk-like with continued use.

The best friends of Klearflax are those who use them. See them at all leading department, furniture and rug stores. They are equally desirable for Hotels, Business Offices, Theatres and other Institutions.

N. Stuart, who left today for Monte Morelos, State of Nuevo Leon, Mexico, Mr. Stuart has been in Redlands for several years, having been forced to flee Mexico during the revolution.

Los Angeles Mother So Thankful for What Tanlac Has Done for Her, She Wants Everybody to Know It.

"Words are not strong enough to express the gratitude I feel towards Tanlac for all the good it has done for me," said Mrs. S. D. Griffith, of 626 E. 19th St., Los Angeles.

"For a period of eight years before taking Tanlac I suffered dreadfully from indigestion and bloating, and was in almost constant distress. I was so nervous that everything seemed to worry me, and I could never get a good night's sleep. I was weak and without, felt miserable all the time, and in spite of all I could not get relief."

"I read of Tanlac in the San Diego papers, where we were then living, and began taking the medicine. The first bottle seemed to do me no good, but the second bottle helped me a lot, and I improved rapidly from then on. I took eight bottles, and it built me up in weight, and put me in perfect health."

"I continued in the very best of health until a few months ago when my baby was born, and after this I wasn't able to get my strength back. My back ached all the time, and it was impossible for me to care for my baby and look after my housework."

"I thought of taking Tanlac again, but hesitated to do so on account of my nursing child. However, I am in such good condition that I started taking the medicine finally, and the effects have not only been wonderful on me, but my baby is now just as healthy and fat as a little pig. I have so regained my strength and energy that my household duties come easy to me. I feel so thankful that I am only too glad to recommend Tanlac to any one suffering from indigestion or to any mother who is in need of a tonic." (Advertisement.)

FIND MUCH DOPE HIDDEN IN CAR.

Secret Compartment in Auto Concealed Morphine.

Four Men Arrested and Held on Federal Charges.

Regular Run to Texas Said to Figure in Plot.

Narcotic Enforcement Agents
Brooks and Bright yesterday reported the largest capture of morphine ever made in Southern California when they lodged John R.
Keele, Alton Read and C. W. Burke, known as bootleggers and all-round
drug runners, and Jack Pantagosa, the conductor of a regular establishment on Fifth street, between Spring and Broadway in the County Jail on the charge of violating the Harrison narcotic law. The quartet were arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Long and held in bond of $1000 each for their appearance before the federal grand jury.

With the three first named, was captured a high-powered seven-passenger Buick automobile, and forty-seven ounces of morphine and cocaine, said to be worth $10,000. The car was equipped with a secret compartment in which dope was stored, it is said. It is the assertion of the agents that Pantagosa conducted a "line" for the disposition of the narcotic, and that he has been so engaged for some time.

The prisoners had a regular automobile run between El Paso and this city for the transportation of narcotics, the officers say, and it is understood that on numerous occasions they brought large quantities of whiskey across the line.

Before coming to Southern California, it is said that they operated in Kansas, transporting by means of the machine large amounts of whiskey and liquor from El Paso to Kansas points. Read and Burke, it is said, are now wanted in Kansas on the charge of jumping their bond and resisting an officer.

The capture of the prisoners was through a "stool-pigeon" who was to buy a supply of morphine and cocaine from them. A sum of money estimated $1000, marked, was to be paid, but it was stopped before the alleged drug-runners could get their hands on it.

All of the drugs were of St. Louis and Philadelphia manufacture, having been sold and shipped to Mexico,
and then brought across the line.

Officer Tells of Embrace in Parked Motor.

An attack on the reputation of Miss Mills R. Hall, suing James Boxall for $50,000 damages for lost love, featured the closing day of the trial
in Department Fourteen yesterday.
The testimony of Police Commissioner John W. Hall was vivid. He stated he saw an automobile halted along the road and turned his flashlight on the occupants. The woman he said, was Miss Hall. The man was not the defendant. They were in a loving attitude.
These charges she denied. The statement of Mr. Boxall had proposed to her and then sited her. Mr. Boxall testified he never proposed to her.

The attorneys will argue the case today and it will be in the hands of the jury late this afternoon.

DISMISSAL IS UPHOLD.

City Policeman Dropped on Unbe-

The action of Chief of Police Pen-yesterday. On request of the officer he will be given a hearing by the commission next Tuesday, at which time he hopes to introduce evidence which will result in his reinstatement.

Chief Pendargent removed the policeman on a charge of conduct unbecoming an officer. The exact account against Hartman was he had intended himself in the arrest of Edward Wood for violation of the traffic regulations, that he had injured the officers who were the arrest. Patrolmen E. R. Wilson and I.

of the case out of the court, and subsequently, the chief declared, Hart-

DENTIST IS DIVORCED.

Wife Blames Amorous Office Girl and Auto Rides for Estrangement.

Mrs. Louise G. Viney was granted a divorce from Viney, a Pasadena dentist, by Judge Summerfield yesterday. She testified that her husband, accompanied by a girl, said to be employed in his office, frequently took long automobile rides, occasionally returning at midnight, which caused Mrs. Viney mental suffering.

INDICTED SECOND TIME ON PERJURY CHARGE.

For the second time Frederick R.
Levee, now under arrest at New Orleans, was indicted yesterday by the county grand jury on a charge of perjury. The second charge was brought because of a technical omission in the first document. Levee was indicted for perjury in an amended answer to a suit for separate maintenance, brought by Matilda G. Levee. Constable Hayes is now in New Orleans, waiting to bring Levee here for trial.

RATES KNOCKED OFF PEDESTAL

Order Big Cut in Favor of Palo Verde Valley.

California Southern Salary
Roll Chopped in Half.

Board Calls Reduction Most Striking Since War.

A reduction of more than 25 per cent in both class and commodity rates was ordered yesterday by the Railroad Commission on the Palo Verde Valley points. The California Southern Railroad was particularly affected when its salary was ordered cut from $24,750
to $12,400 a year.

The lowered rates decision came after several continuations of the order by the commission of a complaint made by the Ellythe Chamber-Commerce, Palo Verde Farmers' Committee, and Palo Verde Lumber Distributors, comprising the majority of the shippers and shippers of freight into and out of the Palo Verde Valley.
The complaint stated the freight rates were unjust and at the hearing the plaintiffs contended that they were so high that ranchmen were compelled to leave large quantities of produce in the fields to rot.
The order declares that the lowered rates will result in the development of 10,000 acres of land where only 100 acres are at present under cultivation.

The reduction was characterized officials of the Railroad Commission as "the most striking that has been made since the war," and was ordered to save Palo Verde shipping 125,000 annually. The line of California Southern Railroad runs for fifty miles between Yuma and Rize, Riverside county, particularly affected. The reduction is expected by the commission to result in a heavy movement of freight, melons, alfalfa, and other products from the valley.

Commenting upon the decision,
W. Glasgow, chief freight clerk for the Santa Fe, declared that the order is satisfied with the order.
"We realized that the rates were high," he declared, "and in fact little opposition to the commission before the commission."

FRIDAY MORNING.

KNOCKED
OFF PEDESTAL

Big Cut in Favor of Palo Verde Valley.

Southern Salary
Cut Chopped in Half.

Call Reduction Most Striking Since War.

Salaries of more than 25 per cent in both class and commodity were slashed yesterday by the Southern Railway Commission on the basis of the Southern California Railway Commission's decision between Los Angeles and the Palo Verde Valley points. The California Southern Railway was particularly affected when its salary was ordered cut from $24,750 to $12,375 a year.

The railroad's decision came after the commission of a committee headed by the Bythe Chamberlain, Palo Verde Farmers' Union and Palo Verde Live Stock Association, representing the majority of the land and stock owners of the Palo Verde Valley, had petitioned the commission to reduce the freight rates on livestock and other commodities to the level of the rates in the Palo Verde Valley.

The commission's decision was a heavy blow to the railroad, which had been operating at a loss since the war. The railroad's decision was a heavy blow to the railroad, which had been operating at a loss since the war.

Now is the time to buy! Novelty linens for the bedrooms and dining-room of the beach or mountain cottage from that fresh importation, brought in from the second floor of that house of merchandise which so faithfully serves an appreciative public, "Linens."

by courtesy only, as you will perceive when you see the most alluring of luncheon sets, bedspreads and boudoir pillows which boast a foundation of unbleached muslin—that plebeian fabric of antebellum days, which during the war years leaped to silk footing, and through its added costliness, came, deservedly, to be valued for its artistic durability.

On this background of delicate straw-tint, colorful garlands of morning-glory blossoms and tulips sprawl in gracefully careless appliquedness. The tout ensemble is one which will inspire any lover of dainty accessories to continue the muslin-appliqued effect to window draperies and cushions. As if to emphasize the practicability of the idea, the combination of flowers and fabric is shown in the most adorable of rompers and sunbonnets for wee boys and girls, who, dressed in them, would seem to complete the decoration of the rooms so adorned.

For the Horse Show.

I was permitted a peep, the other morning, at the enchanting afternoon collie, in which Edith, with dazie the vision, collectively speaking, of that select assemblage of sport lovers at the Santa Barbara Horse Show later in the month. Flash-tinted net is used for the quilted creation which, in its quaintness of line, might have been fashioned for Edith's great-grandmother of the 1830's. A berth of cowboby lace falls in soft folds, outlining a neck, wide, but distinctly not low—again, the shoulder-to-shoulder cut of 1830. The sleeves are tiny, encasing shrinking beneath the filmy ripples of the bertha, and the babyish waist is gathered into a wide girle of velvet ribbon, or child in hue. A fascion of full-blown pink roses is caught at the waistline and follows, gracefully, the velvet streamers which finish the girle. The net skirt is full and without adornment to detract from the airy loveliness of the set. The accompanying hat is soft and floppy, of a fairlike fineness of hair straw, and flesh colored. A rose garland, the twin of the one which gamboles the gown, wreathes it, and velvet streamers of the orchid-tinted ribbon are the completing touch. When used for informal dinner wear Edith will, in transit, protect this something of mist and stuff, colored and faced in soft angora of the same color.

For the Spring Bride.

To her whose particular young man's fancy lightly turned to love last spring and who is, in consequence, ecstatically engrossed in plans for a June wedding, a subject of importance at the present moment is the mode to be followed in her cards of invitation and announcement. Restrained elegance is the term, fitting like a glove, the examples of the paper makers' and engravers' art you may see at that house the name of which is synonymous with quality and taste superlative. A shaded, modified Roman script in lettering, affected during the past year or so, is still endorsed by the best usage, one is assured by this oracle of the correct in stationery. The paper is the Italian hand-made sort, thick and smooth and altogether rich to eye and touch. The size of the wedding card, whether the latter takes the form of invitation or announcement, is moderate. The great sheet in vogue before the war has followed other extravagances into the discard.

Do You Know That.

Plating is yet in vogue. Suit coats have narrow belts. The side train is again in favor. Snocks have come back into vogue.

Paris favors a dash of red in the costume. Velvet ribbons are the latest fad.

Very new and youthful is the puffed sleeve. A great deal of lace is used on the new hats.

Taffeta and peach skin hats are very popular.

White and gray are fashionable in neckwear.

All-black footwear is being worn more this season.

Coats of black satin have quilted or blistered collars.

Beach and Mountain Cabin Furnishings Are Now Out.

THE NEW.

IN STORES AND HOMES.

NOVELTIES, IDEAS AND PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS.

Up-to-Date:

To use, on miladi's writing paper and dinner cards of heavy white or cream linen, a monogram which exactly copies the Italian cut-work embroidery of happy memory. The lacy effect of the lettering achieves the top notch in elegant simplicity.

A scattering of rose petals, in silk or worsted embroidery, over the skirts of organdy gowns of pastel tints. The petals scatter from belt to hem, blown, apparently, by a gentle wind from a corsage bouquet of the wearer.

To complete the costume of modish gray crepe with a long chain of highly lustrous beads, in a moltingly delicate tone of pink. The fine, prismatic cutting of the beads, similar to that of French jet, is known to the technically wise as "galolith."

The net skirt is full and without adornment to detract from the airy loveliness of the set. The accompanying hat is soft and floppy, of a fairlike fineness of hair straw, and flesh colored. A rose garland, the twin of the one which gamboles the gown, wreathes it, and velvet streamers of the orchid-tinted ribbon are the completing touch. When used for informal dinner wear Edith will, in transit, protect this something of mist and stuff, colored and faced in soft angora of the same color.

For the Spring Bride.

Do You Know That.

Plating is yet in vogue. Suit coats have narrow belts. The side train is again in favor. Snocks have come back into vogue.

Paris favors a dash of red in the costume. Velvet ribbons are the latest fad.

Very new and youthful is the puffed sleeve. A great deal of lace is used on the new hats.

Taffeta and peach skin hats are very popular.

White and gray are fashionable in neckwear.

All-black footwear is being worn more this season.

Coats of black satin have quilted or blistered collars.

TO TEST WATER UNION PROJECT.

Imperial District Refuses to Absorb Mutual Company.

Tryout to Show Feasibility of Plan is Demanded.

Eighty-five Cents an Acre Foot Rate is Suggested.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH.)

EL CENTRO, April 13.—Directors of the Imperial Irrigation District yesterday refused to absorb the Imperial East Side Water Company under a plan proposed by L. R. Bonesteel, one of the officers of the company, and Director Mark Rose of the irrigation district, who is also interested in the East Side company, and deferred action on any definite move toward taking over the mutual water companies until a test can be made to show such action feasible.

Representatives of water companies Nos. 6 and 12 were asked by the district directors to obtain the co-operation of the directors of water company No. 8 and have a test of the district operation of the mutual companies made with all three of these West Side companies operated as a unit by the district.

A snag was struck in the plan to have the East Side company taken over when Mr. Bonesteel proposed that his company be absorbed and the stockholders furnished water at a flat rate of 45 cents an acre foot, the rate which is now charged by the mutual companies. He proposed that any assessment which might be necessary for maintenance of the distributing system be protected among the other companies which would not be under the control of the district. His proposal was sanctioned by Director Mark Rose, but was frowned upon by the other directors who refused to entertain the proposal on such a basis. At next Tuesday's meeting of the irrigation district directors the question will again be taken up and all of the fifteen mutual companies are expected to have representatives on hand to participate in the discussion of the plan.

Sentiment is divided on the question of whether or not it would be possible for the district to supply water direct to the consumers at a lower rate than is now being done through the mutual companies, but all factions are united on the question of making a test to settle the question.

JAILED IN WASHINGTON.

Brothers of Man Held Here as Mail Fraud Worker Are Arrested.

Postoffice Inspector Brill of Baltimore, who is here in connection with the Hitchcock mail fraud case, received a telegram yesterday apprising him of the fact that F. M. and Albert E. Hitchcock, brothers of Horace D. Hitchcock, who with his wife, Amy V. Hitchcock, was taken into custody here, had been arrested in Washington, D. C., where the indictment, charging grand larceny, was returned by the federal grand jury.

There is no record that Mrs. Hatfield A. Hobart, who operated with the Hitchcocks, according to the statement of Inspector Brill, has been indicted in connection with the crime charged against the Hitchcocks.

WILD-COW HUNT IS ORGANIZED.

Astonishing Tales Told of Record Speed Shown by Elusive Animal.

Plans have been laid to run down the wild cow which since 1905 has roamed at will along the waters of Grass Creek in Paolima Canyon, about fourteen miles from the canyon mouth. In all the years the animal has ranged about Mt. Gleason, but one man, Jake Street, at one time marshal of San Bernardino, has caught a glimpse of it.

Hunters, pleasure-seekers, forest rangers and others have seen her tracks, but that is all. She is supposed to have been one of the calves left on the range years ago when grazing was prohibited in the canyon. Mr. Street says that when he glimpsed the cow she became frightened and sped away with the swiftness of the wind. He tells astounding tales of her speed and the phenomenal measurements of her spray feet. Forest Supervisor Allen will lead the hunt, applying to it the education, not to be found in any book, which he acquired among the mountain ranges of Siakiyou county.

Hots of the Sheriff's office here.

Mr. Roberts was not seriously injured and he made his way to the National Forest Inn on the Ridge Route above Newhall where he summoned aid. The rescue party went to the scene of the accident and took Ben Hoy to the inn.

Mexican Accused of Watching Women Take Bath is Arrested.

Charged with having peeped into the window of a West Fifth-street apartment house while a young woman was taking a bath, Isidro D. Oloce, 25 years of age, a Mexican art student, was locked in the City Jail yesterday in default of $500 bail. Oloce was booked for disturbing the peace.

According to Patrolman C. D. Hoy, who made the arrest, he caught the youthful Mexican on a fire escape with his face against the young woman's window. An investigation by the officer showed that the woman, whose name the police have refused to disclose, was taking a bath. Oloce entered a plea of not guilty before Police Judge Richardson and the bail was then fixed at $500.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH.) BAKERSFIELD, April 13.—Efforts of Miller & Lux to cut up into small tracts approximately 30,000 acres of land in Kern county and sell it to home-sellers in meeting with opposition by the Board of Supervisors of Kern county.

Get the Tire Service Your Manufacturer Intended You Should

EVERY car owner knows what a difference it makes whether he gets a fresh live tire—or one that has stood around on some dealer's shelf for a season or two.

Odds and ends, a job lot of this and that, are just as much a hardship to the dealer as to his customers.

Nobody wants them—or will take them if he knows it.

The dealer does not like to sell them, but he has them on his hands—and there you are.

What the dealer wants is a quick moving line of tires and tubes.

Tires and tubes that come to you fresh out of the factory—alive with the service the maker put into them.

You see now why so many dealers are concentrating on the one line of tires sure to meet the wishes of ninety-five per cent of their customers.

Why they are doing away with a little of this, a little of that, and the odd lots that stick on the shelves.

In short, the progressive dealer is looking for tires that will meet his own sense of responsibility to his customers—his careful selection of tires and his careful handling of them in his store.

Concentration on United States Tires and Tubes is the business policy of thousands of tire dealers today—and hundreds more are coming to this great and dependable line every month.

The United States Rubber Company has always been interested in seeing that you get the right service out of your tires. It selects its dealers with that end in view.

It builds a line of tires on which a dealer can concentrate and still have the variety, to meet the needs of every individual car owner.

A complete and finished line, for all roads and in all sizes. At prices consistent with what car owners have learned to look for in high-quality tires.

In announcing this new dealership, we wish to direct the attention of the public to an outstanding fact in the present motor car situation.

This fact is the fulfillment of the recently announced determination of the new and powerful organization now manufacturing the Maxwell Car, "to give motor car values so unmistakable that they cannot remain for a moment in question."

As men whose business implies intimate knowledge of motor cars and motor car values, we have been familiar with the Maxwell car for many years.

We have long admired the Maxwell as a mechanism. In low cost of repair, in durability, and in operating economy, we are convinced that there can be no doubt of Maxwell's superiority in its class.

LONDON, April 15 (4 a.m.)—

senary correspondent says:

"It appears that the night's change in the attitude of the miners' parliament were inclined to attribute the responsibility of prolonging the strike always refused to discuss a national pool was disposed of. The hope that it may now be agreed to conference."

LONDON, April 14.—Both the miners and the miners' union declined their cases to about 300 members of the House of Commons tonight. The request for the hearing originated with the owners.

DECLINE TO TALK
The deputations of members of the House of Commons left the miners' residence at 12:50 o'clock this morning. They declined to talk.

Frank Hodges, secretary of the miners' union explained the attitude of the men and their demands. According to the Central News, he declined to another conference on the subject, leaving all other issues for later negotiations.

"There is every reason to believe," the Central News, "that a decision will be taken immediately upon negotiations, and a strike will be averted."

Hodges, in a letter to the Times, said that the miners are prepared to make substantial contributions to the industry in the direction of wiping out the deficit by agreeing to a uniform reduction of wages throughout the country.

"The economic capacity of districts varies so enormously," he said, "that the proposals of the owners to a district basis could not have been anything but a wide variation they proposed in wages."

WOULD ACCEPT WAGE CUT.
He says the owners and workmen and an external government help put into effect the principles governing the national wage movements.

Outlining the federation's scheme for a national pool, he said:

"It is true it cannot be applied at once owing to the abnormal conditions of trade. Some financial assistance is necessary."

He declares the miners' willingness to help by a reduction of wages, expressed a desire for freedom from the "bureaucratic influence" of government control in the industry.

There are 216 vessels laid up in the River Tyne, the largest coal-lying government vessels. The Department of Mines today issued an order under which domestic consumers of coal will be unable to obtain coal.
